Pastors Exchanged. Rev. P. C. Wright occupied the pul-it of the Greeneville Congregational church Sunday morning in exchange with Rev. C. H. Ricketts, and preached to a large congregation his sermon on The Temperance Issue.

Caught in the Rain. Motormen Abe Carpenter, Ben Bur-nick and Irving Cruthers of the trol-ey company went on a fishing trip to Baltic last week. They were up the river a considerable distance when the rain came down in torrents, Burdick had his rubber coat with him, and had the laugh on the other two, until it began to leak. All three were soaked to the skin in a few minutes. As they were pulling down stream, their boat struck a stump and they were stranded in the downpour. Cruthers said he thought they had struck the Pole. They finally got off and reached home with ten fish, one a 4 1-2 pound pickerel.

A dispute agose over how they should go, resulting in the calling of bad names, both by the man who was cut and the one who did the cutting. This irritated Nicola Prodente, aged 20, so much, that he whipped out a razor and made a siash at Guiseppe Guastamacchia, they being the ones who called the names. The latter saw the razor coming and raised his left hand, in which he held his umbrella, so as to protect his throat. This proved effectual as far as his throat was concerned, but exposed his hand, and the razor almost circled his little finger at the knuckle, and cut the umbrelia.
